

The Faculty for Informatics and Mathematics (Junior Professorship for Security in Information Systems, Prof. Dr. Hans P. Reiser) at University of Passau is seeking to recruit a

Research Assistant (m/f)

This full-time position is available immediately and the initial contract will be for a one-/two-year period. Salary and social benefits are according to Germany's public sector TV-L E13 scale, currently approx. 3100€ to 3640€ per month (before taxes), depending on formal qualification and professional experience.

Your duties include:

- working on topics in the area of IT security in research and teaching
- contribution to proposing and organizing research projects in the area of IT security
- the opportunity to work on a doctoral thesis

Qualifications sought:

- Excellent university degree (M.Sc.) in computer science or equivalent area
- Interest in leading research topics in the following areas:
  - Secure and reliable information systems
  - Security of virtualization technology and cloud computing
  - Intrusion-tolerant and self-healing systems
- Willingness to work autonomously on scientific topics
- Excellent knowledge of English language (knowledge of German is an additional plus, but is not mandatory)
- Ability to work effectively in a team, to work autonomously and with high responsibility

The University of Passau is committed to increasing its number of female academic employees and thus would like to encourage women to apply for this post. Seriously disabled applicants possessing substantially the same qualifications for this position will be given preference over others.

The young and dynamically growing University of Passau has been founded in 1978 and offers academic studies in the faculties of Law, Humanities, Catholic Theology, Informatics and Economics. It has secured an excellent reputation in teaching and research and offers one of the most beautiful campuses in Germany.

Passau with its unique charm and atmosphere is one of the most beautiful German cities at the river Danube. It is located in south-eastern Bavaria, about 180 km east of Munich and 120 km north of Salzburg (Austria) and is also known as the "Three Rivers City". Passau is full of history, culture and international student life. The setting of the Old Town, created by Italian baroque masters in the 17th century, shows soaring towers, picturesque places, enchanting promenades and romantic lanes. With your choice of Passau you will find yourself studying in one of the most attractive cities in Germany.

We are happy to offer you our help in finding accommodation and with all questions you may have! Please contact Prof. Dr. Hans P. Reiser, Tel. +49-851-509-3235 for further details.

Please send your application to:

University of Passau, FIM, Prof. Dr. Hans P. Reiser, Innstr. 32, 94032 Passau, Germany. You may also send your electronic application (attachments in PDF format only) via e-mail (hans.reiser@uni-passau.de).

